

Squabble forces early end to Salem council meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Salem

THE monthly council meeting of the Salem City Municipal Corporation turned tense on Friday after a heated exchange broke out between AIADMK and DMK councillors, forcing Mayor A Ramachandran to abruptly suspend the session and bring it to an early close.

The meeting, chaired by the mayor, was attended by Corporation Commissioner M Elangovan and Deputy Mayor M Saratha Devi.

The meeting began with Ward 44 VCK councillor Imayavaramban M raising concern about voter rights were being affected and residents were being inconvenienced under the SIR system. He also held up a placard, signalling strong objection to the system.

Soon after, Ward 22 councillor and AIADMK whip in the council K C Selvaraj raised multiple issues. He questioned the progress of the ongoing UGD works under the corporation and asked why new household connections were not being provided under the scheme. Responding to him, Commissioner Elangovan said that nearly 15,000 live UGD connections are currently in use and works were progressing in phases.

He also added that in Ward 28, the revised tax slabs had caused concern over possible implications, with 122 families in the Sandaipettai area unsure of how the changes might impact their livelihoods.

In response, J Jayakumar, councillor of Ward 28, clarified that although many economically backward families live in the area, the ward is classified as an active commercial zone with numerous mills, which results in higher tax rates. He added that this matter had already been discussed thoroughly urging that no unnecessary disturbance be created over it.

Following which, DMK councillors objected, insisting that Selvaraj restrict his remarks to issues within his own ward. The exchange quickly escalated into a heated argument between the AIADMK and DMK benches, and the hall briefly descended into chaos with both sides speaking over one another.

Amid the rising tension and inability to proceed, Mayor A Ramachandran announced the immediate suspension of the meeting. He instructed the assembly to sing the National Anthem before adjourning the session.

Despite the turmoil, resolutions that were on the agenda were declared passed before the meeting concluded.

After the meeting concluded, N Yadavamoorthy, the leader of the opposition in the council, addressed the reporters and alleged that meetings are being ended abruptly, leaving councillors with no opportunity to fully discuss the issues affecting their wards.

He further added that resolutions presented by the corporation are passed hastily without proper discussion.

Untouchability Eradication Front and family of the deceased youth staged a protest near Karimangalam on Friday | EXPRESS

CPM, VCK, activists demand probe into death of two SC youths

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Dharmapuri

MEMBERS of the CPI(M), VCK, DYFI, and other outfits, including the Untouchability Eradication Front, on Thursday, staged a protest in front of the Dharmapuri Medical College Hospital at Anumandhapuram near Karimangalam, demanding a detailed probe into the death of two youths near Palacode on Wednesday.

Speaking to TNIE, R Sisubalan, district secretary of CPI(M), said, "The families of N Sunilkumar (19) and R Murugan from Sonnampatti who had died in a road accident near Palacode have raised suspicions about the death of their children. The family had alleged foul play and requested a detailed investigation."

A Sekar, district secretary of the Untouchability Eradication Front, said, "Last year, Sunilkumar had received death threats for his relationship with an upper caste Hindu girl. Moreover, there is little evidence pointing to the accident."

However, officials in the police headquarters said, "It was an accident. The two youths were on a moped, and it had veered off the road and got caught in a culvert. They sustained grievous injuries and died on the spot. There is no evidence pointing to foul play. We are still awaiting the postmortem report. The bodies of the two youths are kept at the Dharmapuri Medical College Hospital."

PIPES REMOVED

Kullathinampatti residents hold stir over water supply

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Dharmapuri

RESIDENTS of K Kullathinampatti village near Pennagaram staged a protest on Friday demanding a drinking water supply and condemning the local body for removing the pipeline supplying water to their village.

K Kullathinampatti village in Uthapalli panchayat is home to over 150 families. Nearly six months ago, the panchayat provided new pipelines supplying the Hogenakkal Drinking Water to ensure these families get clean drinking water. However, three months ago, an owner of private land filed a complaint that the water lines must be removed as they pass through his land. Following this, the panchayat officials removed the pipes leaving the residents without any source of drinking water.

P Mariappan, a villager, told TNIE, "Three months ago, when the pipelines were removed, we were promised a regular water supply and a new supply line. But in the past three months, we have been buying water. People who cannot afford to buy water are travelling five km to fetch water from other villages. The panchayat officials have not taken any efforts to fix the pipe. So, we staged a protest."

After assuring action, Pennagaram Tahsildhar Sanmugasundaram and Hogenakkal inspector held talks with the villagers.

"The protest led to traffic disruption along the Eriyur-Pennagaram road for over 2 hours," the police said.

Overflowing sewage at Ulavar Sandhai restrooms raise a stink in Dharmapuri

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Dharmapuri

FARMERS gathering at the Dharmapuri Ulavar Sandhai to trade their produce urged the municipality to improve the sewage systems of the restrooms.

The Dharmapuri 'Ulavar Sandhai' located at the four roads junction is one of the key hubs for farmers to trade their produce. On an average, about thousand people and hundreds of farmers gather here to sell their produce in over 160 shops. To facilitate the needs of the farmers, six restrooms, including a bath, have been constructed. Despite the municipality's underground sewage system, the systems are poorly planned, leading to sewage overflow.

M Nandhakumar from Dharmapuri told TNIE, "The poor management of the restrooms in the Ulavar Sandhai is vexing. Often, the latrine pits overflow and become unusable. With over a thousand people visiting daily, it has become impossible for the officials stationed here to keep up with the latrine situation. On multiple occasions, we have seen the officials here arrange cleaning of the latrine pits. But municipality's failure to connect with the UGD is a major cause of the problem."

A farmer, G Saravanan from Kadathur, said, "Sewage also overflows near the shops sometimes becoming extremely distressing. The facilities are stained and poorly maintained. Efforts must be taken to improve the infrastructure also."

Officials in the agriculture marketing department told TNIE, "The municipality officials have been notified about the situation, and efforts will be taken to improve the situation."
